If scattering in every direction
To seek for foliage and cover,
And find you have just been outstripped
By some Sarah Jane and her lover,

If in gathering up all the fragments Of such an Arcadian feast, You can't tell whether 'twas most like Entertainment for man or beast;

If that kind of thing is enjoyment, In longer or shorter measure.

And you're simple enough to believe so,
Why, then, help yourself to the pleasure.

But for me. (I speak from experience, The subject I've closely pursued,)
The reply will be found in scripture,
"I pray thee have me excused."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Truthful and Obedient.

"Charles! Charles!" Clear and sweet as a note struck from a silver bell, the voice rippled over the common.

"That's mother," cried one of the boys, and he instantly threw down his bat and picked up his jacket and cap. "Don't go yet !" "Have it out." "Finish this game !" "Try it again !" cried the players in noisy chorus. "I must go-right off-this minute. I told her that I'd come whenever she called exclaimed. "But I did hear."

"She won't know you did." "But I know it, and-"

"Let him go," said a bystander. "You can't do anything with him. He's tied to his mother's apron strings."

"That's so," said Charlie, "and it's what every boy ought to be tied to; and in a hard "But I wouldn't be such a baby as to run the minute she called," said one.

"I don't call it babyish to keep one's word to his mother," answered the obedient boy, a beautiful light glowing in his blue eyes. call that manly; and the boy that don't keep his word to her will never keep it to any one else-you see if he does!" and he hurried away to his cottage home.

Thirty years have passed since those boys played on the common. Charles Gray is now a prosperous business man in a great city, and his mercantile friends say of him, that "his word is as good as his bond." We asked him once how he had acquired such a reputation.

"I never broke my word when a boy, no matter how great the temptation, and the habit formed then has clung to me through

A Market Colloquy.

Among the people who came to the Philadelphia market the other afternoon, was a citizen of West Jersey. He brought a stock of eggs and butter. In a big coop in the rearmost part of his wagon he had a splendid peacock whose tail spread out beautiful even to gorgeousness, like the trail of a lady's dress. An Irishman passing, he observed the splendid plumage of the bird, and asked its price. "Thee can have it for fifteen dollars," was the reply of the owner, whose garb indicated him as a member of the Society of Friends. "That's a good price," was the interrogative remark of the Celt, as he smoothed the ample

"Friend," was the placid reply, "thee prob ably, in that respect has an advantage over me. Thee evidently has acquaintances that I have not. If thee thinks that the scream of this bird is like that of thy friend, I in my ignorance, will not presume to contradict

PREPARATION OF COMPOUND

EXTRACT BUCHU.

The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.

Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distilla-tion, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by dis placement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small pro-portion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

portion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopæa, nor is it a Surup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation. Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
